

There is no gain saying that his modelling experience has helped him greatly in the movie business where he's now making waves. Emeka Enyiocha, the model turned actor is one man that's always a subject of discussion among the actresses, what with his styles and charismatic posture.

If you love watching movies, you must have seen this face in several films. He used to be tough and hard in some of his films but he just made himself known last year after ten years of suffering in the industry.

He called himself an example of patient of the industry saying "I have been patient, coming to this industry everyday, every hour, every minutes of my life for those ten years. I was getting disappointment, one or two jobs, but I still held on to that. I did not lose hope until God smiles at me and nowadays, those vigorous and suffering are now history".

He got his break in the year 2003 through a movie titled "End of the River" where he played a role of Eziebunafo and that has taken his name but since then, some people started seeing him as a snub. They said he is too pompous because of his new found position, but how true is it?

Lets hear him first. "If there are some people that feel that way, I appreciate their feelings. If you see me on the road smiling at everybody, you may think I'm mad.

In wars innocent people die and you cannot say because of that you cannot fight for your right. By the time you get one-on-one with me you will understand my kind of person

Whoever feels that I snub, brag or that I'm untouchable, well, the person is entitled to his or her opinion but all I know is that the people close to me will tell you the opposite of whatever he or she feels or felt about me. "I don't believe that I can be friendly to everybody and I will not do that but when you are friendly to me, I will bring warm embrace of friendship", he lamented.

For one to become a role model you will sacrifice so many things. People must gossip about you to tarnish your image but your conduct and how you relate to people matter too. You must pass through stress, frustration and difficulties. All you need is patience and hard work.

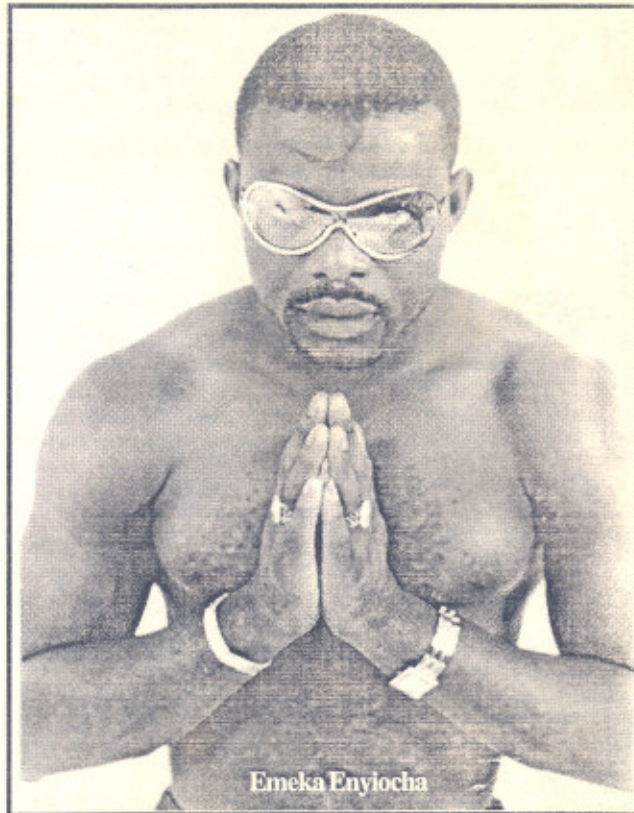

Today, Emeka Enyiocha has started making waves, though he believes he still needs to improve. He admires RMD so much in and out side stage and television. The comportment, mode of dressing, words of encouragement and advice were what attracted him to RMD. He wishes to do more than he has done in the industry.

Eziebunafo, like his fans always call him, is one of the promising guys that can act with any kind of woman in the industry. He said, "Personally, Emeka Enyiocha can act with a devil and after that it goes, hence it's a professional work. I don't choose women to act with as long as you are an actress.

He also wished to marry from the industry or any woman who will understand his nature of job and the task involve.

Nigerians especially the needy and poor as a role model, he smiled and said, "I always ask God anytime I play, father all I want you to do is to make me comfortable to enable me help the less privilege and the needy.

To make sure that I put smile on people and at least make someone smile everyday. That has been my prayers and God has been so wonderful", he concluded. F
